1. Introduction

That concludes the 33rd season. Thanks to everyone for participating! I am sorry it's taken me two extra weeks to finish this. Hopefully I will be in shape to get things out on time going forward.

For the awards and congratulations, see section 15 - no spoilers here! If any of you know of someone who would like to play with us, or would like to start a new team yourself, please let me know as soon as you can.

Next issue, you send orders for:

* Nothing! (issue 1 is the season kickoff issue)

Publication date for issue 1 is December 13. It might be out sooner. If you have heard nothing by the publication date, feel free to get in touch to check up on it. Since I know many will be gone for Christmas, I intend to make the first deadline of the next season in the first week of January.

I will send out your teams with issue 1. There will also be an updated ruleset coming with issue 1, incorporating the changes that have already been announced.

Jed Stone, Frillby United:

«In March 1966 the Jules Rimet Trophy was stolen from the Stampex exhibition in Westminster Central Hall where it was on display. Edward Betchley was eventually charged with its theft and in 2018 Sidney Cugullere was named as the master mind behind the theft. If truth be known Paylord Mangus was really at the back of the theft and for a while the trophy stood in pride of place on his mantleshelf in the Roseberg Universe.

The theft was a retrospective act that followed the actual betting scandal. It was ill advised as the 'back dated' theft caused a ripple through time that was hard to ignore. Fearing an entire collapse of the Multiverse the 'Caretakers of Time', who had been appointed to watch over the Time Corridor after the betting scandal was exposed, traced the theft back and Mangus. He was jailed and fined another amazing fortune. To smooth out the ripple the trophy had to be returned. To effect this Janus Ranbutton, one of the caretakers, whose extension into the 'World of Men' was a small dog called 'Pickles' arranged to 'sniff it out' from under a hedge. The rest is history.

The Great Betting Scandal and the theft of the trophy had the repercussion that it was decided that the Caretakers were to ensure it could never happen again. Until further notice England were not to reach the finals of The World Cup. So an engineered policy of failed penalty shootouts (and the Hand of God) have ensured England fails as the final hurdle approaches. Someday the 'Caretakers' may decide that the situation is safe and the ban will be lifted. Until then we dream on.

Footnote. In 1970 Brazil won the World Cup for the third time and were awarded the Jules Rimet Trophy in perpetuity and a replacement was commissioned. The original Trophy was placed in the offices of the Brazilian Football Confederation. In 1983, not long after Paylord Mangus was released from prison, it was stolen again. This time it was done in 'real' time and there was no 'ripple' through time and the trophy has never been recovered. Guess where it is!
